TRYING TO GET A DISMISSAL

Arguments Stop Taking of Testimony in Seljan Murder Trial.

GROUND ASSUMED BY THE DEFENSE

Testimony in the Case Discussed by the Attorneys on Both Sides and Court Takes the Motion

Under Advisement.

The defense in the Siljan murder trial yesterday made a motion to dismiss the case on the ground that the evidence introduced by the state was insufficient to connect the three defendants, Bukovic, Drubnic and Mikan, with the crime with which they were charged.

The motion was made as soon as court convened. Atterney Godwin spoke in support of it and plied the court with arguments and authorities in favor of the motion. At the conclusion of the argument, Judge Ferguson said that he would not sustain the motion, although he did not positively ov rrule it. Assistant County Attorney Day then began to outline his objections to the motion. He will continue his address this afternoon and it will probably consume the greater portion of the time, inasmuch as he will be compelled to go over the entire evidence given by the state's witnesses in order to give ech portion what he considers its due con-ideration. He will do this in order that no erch partion what he considers its due con-sideration. He will do this in order that no portion of the evidence may be ruled out. In his argument, Attorney Godwin dis-cressed every part of the evidence introduced by the state and questioned its relevancy. He said that none of the testimony any way connected the three men on trial with the murder, if murder it was. He held that there was no proof introduced to snow that a murder had been committed. He said that it was at presumable to suppose that Seljan had suicided as that he had been murdered, as far as the evidence showed. Regarding the testimeny of Dr. Summers, who said that after receiving the wound Seijan could not have lived over five minutes, Godwin urged that the physician reached his opinion from the presumption that the wound had been in-flicted with one thrust of a knife. He at-tempted to controvert this presumption by saying that the fact that the wound was deeper on either side than directly in front. Plug Tobacco

A Great Big Piece for 10 Cents showed that more than one thrust was made. If this was the case, he held that it would have been possible for Seljan to cut once and then go down to the river bank. there complete the job and jump into the

He dwelt on the fact that no evidence had been introduced to show that the blood found on the floor of Seljan's room and on the articles in it was human blood, although be admitted that it was extremely improbable that it was any other kind of blood. He questioned the propriety of the introduction of testimony that three men had been seen pushing a banana cart north on Thirteenth street, that three men had been seen at Sixth and Marcy streets on the early morning after the crime, or of the wheel tracks. All this he held was irrevelant, inasmuch as it could not be shown that the three men were the accused. He quoted extensively from authori-ties to support his position.

OTHERS WOULD HAVE KNOWN IT. He argued that the claim that Seljan could not have been murdered in the house and his body removed without the knowledge of the three defendants was not tenable. He held that it was equally improbable that anything of the kind could have occurred without the knowledge of Urban, the other bearder, and Mrs. Mikan. Yet they were not charged with the crime.

Godwin said that while he believed that the ourt saw the irrelevancy of the testimony, he thought it would affect the jurors who did not see the competency or incompetency of testimony. He therefore desired the court to take the case from the jury and dismiss it and thus incidentally save money for the county. He said that the county attorney should moved to dismiss, inasmuch as he saw that his case was weak, but that he was too much permeated with an ambition to win the case to do anything of the kind. He cited as evidence of ambition the fact that a numer of criminal cases had been recently dismissed by Judge Scott for lack of evidence. At the conclusion of the argument Judge

TO A RIPE OLD AGE.

The sins of youthful ignorance, the dissipation, the weakness that proves a barrier to marriage —these are the things that are daily plunging thousands of men into a condition of utter ruin.—The wasted parts, emissions, nervousness and physical debility all resulting from abuses and excesses, continue to sap the life away simply because the sufferer in his ignorance is too bashful, too far gone in a shrinking fear of discovery to make known his condition or to seek out a friend. It is this lack of courage, this blighting, backward fear that has prompted me to make known to every man, weak and worn out from dissipation or secret sins, that there is a chance for you, an opportunity whereby you may be lifted out of that state of dread and despair to a happy condition of self respectant i manly courage. I, too, had secretly suffered for years, but through the agency of a remarkble remedy fam now a happy, vigorous man enjoying to the fullest measure the blessings and privileges that only complete manhood can bestow. I will send (sealed) the recipe of this wonderful remedy FREE to any nufferer who will write to me. It cured me after everything elso had failed and it will cure you. Address, C. H. STRICTURE AND GLEET at home Dr. Searles & Searles, 110 s. 14th st., Omaha, Neb

Ferguson said that if the case before him was an equity case he would not hesitate to dis-miss it, as there was no direct testimony. He held, however, that while there was no direct testimony connecting the men with the crims enough circumstances had been cited which enough circumstances had been cited which, taken together, wove into a very probable story. He therefore said that he would not sustain the motion, as the case was of too much importance to be disposed of in such manner at the present time.

Assistant County Attorney Day at once began his response to the remarks of Attorney Golwin, but he got little further than to say that a marging case had ever been dismissed. that no murder case had ever been dismissed by Judge Scott, although he admitted that a number of other criminal cases had been, number of other criminal cases had been, when an adjournment was then to 2 o'clock. The greater portion of the afternoon was occupied by County Altorney Day and Jeffreys who discussed the evidence which has been introduced by the state. They reviewed the testimony in detail, taking each point and giving it all its possible weight. They held that taken allogather it constitutes such a strong chain of circumstances against the accused that it devolved upon the defense to give some explanation. They argued therefore that it was entirely out of the province of the court to take the case out of the hands of the jury at the present time. ARGUED FOR SUICIDE.

At the conclusion of the arguments At-torney Godwin answered. He discussed it at length unt'l 5:30 o'clock, when Judge Ferguson cut him short by saying that court would be adjourned. The attorney spoke confidently and relierated his previous statement that the theory of the attorneys for the defence was that Seljan committed suicide. "If Seljan cut his throat, how is it that his cont, which was found on the river bank, was not bloody, and the vest was covered with blood?" asked County Attorney Day.

"I don't believe that Seljan had his coat on when he cut his throat. He was only earrying it," responded Godwin. "If he had had it on when he cut his throat on the river bank it would have been soaked, as the blood out of the carotid artery would have spouted

"Well, how do you explain the fact that the vest was scaked on the inside, if the blood would have spouted out?" was the next ques-

"When Selian was at the house he cut his throat partially, severing some veins While he was walking down to the river the blood trickled out from a vein and flowed down his body to the vest."
"But you say that he cut his throat on the left side at the house. How is it that the vest was blood-stained on the right side?" This appeared to stall Godwin for a mo-ment, but he came up with a rejoinder. "When Seljan was at the house he cut clear around to the right side and severed the jugular vein. Veins will up and don't spout blood. The blood flowed down his eck onto his vest."

"Dr. Summers testified, however, that the severing of the jugular vein is almost, if not as serious, as the severing of an artery," suggested County Attorney Day. GODWIN AS PHYSIOLOGIST.

"I know enough about physiology to know that the cutting of any vein is not fatal," responded the attorney, and he went into a long discussion of the properties of veins and arteries.
The court also put in a question

"How is it," was asked, "that there was no blood found on the rocks or ground near the clothes if the blood spouted out when Seljan cut the artery?"
"We don't intend to say that Seljan cut his threat at that point," was the response, i may have been some point distant, north or south, along the bank. You know the earth soaks up blood and it would be im-possible to find the spot two days afterward. He left his clothes on the bank and some one might have picked them up. This person afterward might have concluded that it was better that they should not be found on him and he deposited them where they were finally found." In the course of his remarks Attorney God-win intimated that the defense expected to show that Seljan's threat was examined and tampered with by a number of persons before it was examined by Dr. Summers. During these examinations hooks and knives were inserted into the throat, and thus perhaps some of the voins and arteries were severed.

Judge Ferguson announced that he would rule on the motion this morning when court reconvened. Every penny tells-You can get Salvation Oll for 25 c nts. Best liniment in the mar-
